▶▶ ABOUT THE COMPANY

Puls is a professional association, founded in 2001, that gathers professional dancers, pedagogues and choreographers with the aim of cultivating and further developing dance art. In this sense, Puls is a dance centre that provides education to young dancers as well as being a dance company. As a company, they produce performances both for the theatre stage and other spaces. Also, they are very open for collaborations with artists in other fields of arts, and they consequently participate in manifestations that are not directly related to dance as guest artists. However, they collaborate with other Croatian dance companies on dance projects as well, as teachers, performers and choreographers.

▶▶ CURRENT PRODUCTIONS

Siliton / Nova moving Art choreography:

Ana-Maria Bogdanović
number of performers: 5

A multimedia performance in which three artistic orientations - visual arts, music and performing - are equally presented, thus creating a new whole. Visual forms that move through the space emphasize the organic character of the work - the visual becomes a part of a dynamic process of movement in space.

Hearing of the eye
choreography: Katarina Đurđević
number of performers: 4

The performance deals with the relation of a music instrument and the body - the instrument of music and the instrument of dance. Music terms are reflected in movement - sharps and flats as jumps and falls. The body is a woman who links all the relations with her energy and establishes new relations, her own, with a child, man and another woman.

▶▶ REVIEW EXTRACT

...Hearing of the eye...is an impressive and warm dance miniature that attracts with its poetics and simplicity... The tender duet of the woman/mother and girl is bursting with subtle details which are reflected in the relations of the bodies: the woman's (body) that hugs, hides, protects, holds and places itself under the small, merry, amazed, curious body eager to fly...
